Preface

The Faculty of Economics and Business at the University of Zagreb (FEB) is celebrating its ninety-ninth birthday by being granted a prestigious AACSB accreditation. This is the highest standard of achievement and has been earned through the faculty's continuous enhancements and its captivating research activities, which are the focal aspect of FEB's flagship reputation and identity.

The information gathered in the faculty's research outputs should provide, to any interested party, specific competences fitting their needs; reinforcing collaboration and teamwork between FEB and society.

This research output was finalized during challenging times, during which we endured the COVID-19 pandemic and devastating earthquakes. In these difficult times, we adopted 'Remote Learning and Teaching' and continuously supported our students in different ways by focusing on using online teaching to provide a balance between the pressures they are faced due to emotional stress and their regular obligations as students. Alongside this – which was a new dimension for many - we have upheld our research and have continued to expand the parameters of knowledge.

We hope that we will soon reach "COVID-free" times, in which we will be able to return to our FEB facilities, have face-to-face meetings with our students, and fully enjoy appraising the results that this research output has captured.

University of Zagreb Faculty of Economics & Business Intellectual Contribution

While research and the creation of new knowledge is a crucial function of all universities, this statement clearly recognises that the Faculty of Economics & Business faculty will primarily focus its scholastic activities on research, teaching business and economics and its practical implementation. The Faculty of Economics & Business (FEB)'s mission entails commitment to high-quality research as a vital part of the AACSB and EPAS accreditations with a vision on achieving the EQUIS accreditation as a teaching and research oriented university. FEB's mission and the related strategic objectives create the basis for the relatively high requirements concerning the intellectual contribution of the faculty. The mission also encourages the faculty to use versatile forms of teaching and learning models to advance high quality and innovative education with a strong impact.

We are intensely dedicated to bringing the impact from our research through Strategic Direction C: Research Capacity and Intellectual Contribution. As a front-runner in the area of social sciences in Croatia FEB's main objective is to serve as an example of best practices to comparable institutions and to continue in this direction. FEB's strategic areas to accelerate the market approval sustain the research culture among its faculty, stakeholders and the society, and its mission acknowledges the research partners and potential users of the research results. The new research-based economic knowledge is created in cooperation with our partners in business, public organizations and research institutes regionally, nationally as well as internationally.

FEB is committed to combine theory and practice effectively in order to promote responsible business, digital business and economy, and policy-relevant economics. Through research and education, all focus areas contribute positively to the future development of the society at large. The only way to empower our undergraduates and graduates to their full potentials is to apply the results of our research, and of the global society and practitioners.

FEB's research output for 2019 features the lists of intellectual contributions shown through the selected scientific bibliographies and lists of scientific activities and achievements. Its publication categories are as follows: books (monographies and edited books); book chapters; scientific articles indexed in Scopus and WoS; other reviewed journal scientific articles; and conference proceedings indexed in Scopus and WoS. Apart from the selective bibliographies at department level, we also bring the lists of scientific papers published by quartiles according to three most recognised journal impact factors: JCR Journal Impact Factor by WoS, ScImago by Scopus, and AJG Academic Journal Guide by Association of Business Schools (so called ABS list). We also list the scientific journals that published our authors' manuscripts in 2019 and are indexed in WoS and Scopus citation bases giving compared rankings by subject categories. In addition, our research output for 2019 the PhD dissertations addition and specialist master degree theses, as well as FEB's total publishing activity.

For the first time this year, we have evaluated the impact and the quality of the journals by the ABS-AJG list, one of the most popular ranking lists from the area of economics and business. Although it is published by the Association of Business Schools, hence is a national list, it is widely accepted in the academic community it represents a world-class standard. We particularly recognise the fact that the list evaluates the journals from the fields of economics, management, and business. The representation analysis of our authors who publish in journals from this list offers a comparative picture at the global academic scene.

The highest ranked journals marked by 4* do not feature FEB's authors, but one paper was published by the International Journal of Operations and Production Management, which is ranked 4 and thus is a top quality publication. In the category 3 our authors are published in the following journals: IEEE Transactions on Engineering Management, Journal of Advertising, Journal of Business Research, Journal of Managerial Psychology, Labour Economics, Small Business Economics, Supply Chain Management, Technological Forecasting and Social Change. Journals ranked in categories 2 and 1 have published papers by 20 and 10 FEB's authors respectively.

In order to highlight a part of our academic activities in 2019, we list all faculty's awards, prizes, scientific projects, researcher profiles and editorial board members of scientific and professional journals. Furthermore, for the first time we have included the conferences hosted or organised by FEB and the conferences attended by the faculty during 2019 by countries.

This year we intend to accentuate the new researcher profiles: Scopus ID and WoS Researcher ID and thereby draw attention to unequivocal authors' distinctive profile in the relevant databases. We particularly emphasise the emergence of double WoS author identifiers, the so-called ResearcherIDs that are the result of the technical changes in the web of science interface. We have recognised this as an open problem for which we intend to find a solution in the next year.

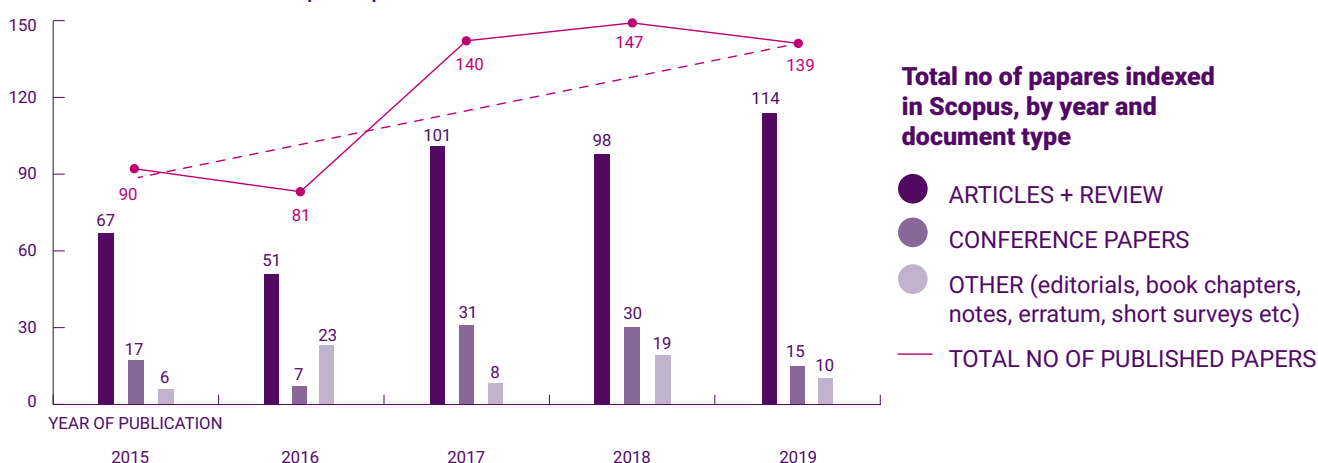

A part of the references for post graduate papers are attributed URN links and are available in electronic form in the FEB's institutional theses repository. The total scientific productivity is accessible online as most of the references in the departments' bibliographies also contain DOI numbers, which raises the scientific visibility and prestige of both the authors and the institution.

– INTELLECTUAL IMPACT IN THE LAST 5 YEARS

Since the Faculty of Economics and Business celebrates 100th anniversary of its establishment it is important to emphasise the progress achieved in the last 5 years according to Scopus database for 2015-2019. The productivity of the FEB faculty has increased substantially in this period as presented in the Portfolio of Intellectual Contributions.

Source: database Scopus, period 2015-2019

It is evident that the number of articles and reviews published in journals has progressed significantly. It should be noted that the data for this publication was exported at the beginning of March 2020 when, unfortunately, all papers published at the end of 2019 had not yet been indexed. Moreover, since the corona lockdown decelerated the indexing dynamics we expect the final figures for 2019 to be higher.

The number of papers published in 1st and 2nd quartiles according to the SJR 2018 is progressing, and more efforts should be invested to achieve FEB's goal. By type of document, 69% were articles and reviews, 17% were conference papers and the rest were other document types. The number of journals that published our authors' manuscripts is equal for 1st and 2nd quartile (60 and 61) and higher than for the lower quartiles (49 and 16). They represent high quality research, and can be considered a precondition or consequence of the research activities of FEB faculty, e.g. in utilizing the expertise of the FEB faculty in their field of research as editors, associate editors, reviewers for Web of Science and Scopus listed scientific journals and journals listed in the ABS list. The faculty are encouraged to engage in the scientific community discussions by producing referee statements for journals, and giving presentations at scientific conferences and events.

Although significant steps have been made during the last five years, a number of areas for further improvement in the current phase of our development have been identified. The range of activities allows both the students and volunteers to choose the level of their involvement as tailored to their needs. Our alumni, who maintain close ties with both FEB and the University, work as top-level executives in the largest companies and governmental positions in Croatia and enthusiastically participate in developing cases and papers that are discussed in classes. FEB's faculty serve as investigators on the Horizon projects, EC Erasmus and similar grants funded by external agencies, and organise brown bag seminars, workshops, and trainings to increase cooperation in international research.

FEB's engagement in the AACSB accreditation, maintaining the national accreditations, obtaining the EPAS reaccreditation, and achieved EQUIS eligibility have been central to improving the strategic position. In addition, the process has created a number of innovations in our practices that have generated and will continue to produce a genuine impact within the Faculty of Economics & Business for both our faculty and students, as well as for the business, society, and the region.

In the contemporary business environment foreign language skills are a prerequisite for the success of business people and organisations. Media, especially the Internet, offer a wealth of information available only to people with foreign language skills.

The aim of this department is to develop communication skills in English, French, German, Spanish or Italian necessary for future business and academic careers.

We enhance students' writing and speaking skills through various teaching materials (texts for reading or listening comprehension, video material, websites, music and pictures) dealing with contemporary issues from the field of business and economics. We teach reading and listening strategies as well as structures used in conversation, meetings, negotiations, discussions, presentations etc. Classes are interactive and require regular attendance and full participation.

The courses are tailored to the needs of future business people who need to be informed about economic issues and current events in business and politics. Learning business languages, thus, enhances students' awareness of cultural differences.

Students are encouraged to read business magazines and books in order to be ready for the labour market where confidence in foreign languages contributes to increased competitiveness, mobility and independent performance.

Business English and Business German are compulsory in the first year and elective foreign business language courses are offered in senior years at undergraduate and graduate levels.

Apart from teaching, our department members publish textbooks, dictionaries, papers and translations, participate in international projects, professional associations and conferences. They cooperate with various cultural institutions:

British Council

Goethe-Institut

Alliance Française

L'Istituto italiano di Cultura

Throughout the history of Faculty of Economics and Business, since 1920, when High School of Trade and Transport was founded, finance studies have had an important place in curricula. In the initial phase of economics studies, finance was taught within "Principles of Political Economy" using the textbook of the same title written by Professor Blaž Lorković in 1889.

The existing Department of Finance with segments of monetary finance, public and social finance, international finance and financial institutions and markets, banking and insurance, is directed to providing guidance in handling complicated challenges of globalization. In order to achieve this goal, syllabi of the given disciplines are highly compatible with finance study programmes in the EU and USA.

Memory of those members of our department who left their mark on financial theory and Croatia's politics but are no longer with us - Professor Marijan Hanžeković, first finance minister in independent Croatia and Professor Antun Šokman, a long-term vice governor of Croatian National Bank, are an inspiration to us all in our teaching and research within the field of finance.

Memory of those members of our department who left their mark on financial theory and Croatia's politics but are no longer with us - Professor Marijan Hanžeković, first finance minister in independent Croatia, Professor emeritus Ivo Perišin, full member of the Croatian Academy Of Sciences And Arts, Professor Antun Šokman, a long-term vice governor of Croatian National Bank, Professor emeritus Pero Jurković, a former governor of Croatian National Bank and professor Anto Bajo who suddenly passed away on Monday, November 25th, 2019. , and was a full professor at the Finance Department and a senior researcher at the Institute of Public Finance in Zagreb, are an inspiration to us all in our teaching and research within the field of finance.

IN MEMORIAM

PROFESSOR ANTO BAJO
(2/7/1970 – 25/11/2019)

On November 25, 2019 our dear colleague and friend, Professor Anto Bajo, full professor at the Department of Finance and senior researcher at the Institute of Public Finance, suddenly passed away. Born on July 2, 1970 in Guča Gora, Professor Bajo began his economics studies at the University of Sarajevo, but in the midst of the 1992-1995 war he continued his studies at the University of Zagreb. Having graduated in 1996, his first position was at the Institute of Public Finance. Subsequently he received his master's degree from the Faculty of Economics, University of Zagreb in 2000 and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Ljubljana in 2006. His main areas of interest were public sector financial management, the budget system, fiscal federalism, and the management and restructuring of public companies. Professor Bajo taught at the Faculty of Economics, University of Zagreb since 2007 and became full professor in 2018. His courses were: Public Finance and Local Finance, Public Debt Management and Public Sector Financial Management, which he founded at the Faculty of Economics, University of Zagreb. He has authored or co-authored the following books: Financing Higher Education and Science, Budget System – an Ornament or a Means of Managing Public Finances, Public Finances of Local Government Units, Fundamentals of Public Debt Management.

In addition to his work on scientific research projects, he published a number of scientific and professional papers and served in numerous professional and advisory bodies, including the Parliamentary Committee on Finance and Budget (as an external member for two terms). In 2014 he participated in drafting the Strategy of Science, Higher Education and Technology, and since 2015 he was the President of the Statistical Council of the Republic of Croatia. Since 2016, he acted a member of the Expert Working Group for the Audit of the Tax System and the Development of New Legislative Solutions in the Tax System of the Republic of Croatia. He was also a consultant for the World Bank, the European Commission, and for many other key institutions in the country and internationally on projects in Albania, Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Egypt, Ghana, Macedonia, Montenegro, Slovenia and Serbia.

Professor Bajo has made an extremely valuable contribution to the public sector financial management. In scientific and professional discussions on the Croatian public sector and economy – he advocated a small, simple and efficient state, and tirelessly supported the removal of the administrative barriers to market development. For him, economics was not a set of doctrines but a frame of mind. He disregarded ideological orientations, and strove to draw scientifically founded conclusions grounded on objective facts. He had the knowledge and strength to achieve great successes and his departure has affected not only his family and friends, but also the entire scientific community.

We will remember him as a positive and warm person who was loved and respected not only by professors and colleagues, but also by many students. With his human values and unbreakable spirit, he will remain a role model for many. His legacy are priceless, precious values that only those who possess the greatest concentration of humanity, serenity and intellectual breadth know how to pass on to others.

Modestly and unobtrusively, Professor Bajo achieved exceptional success. His difficult path of life was the source of all the strength, perseverance and spite for the hard work that in turn constituted the building blocks of his scientific career. As one of the greatest Croatian economists, he was posthumously bestowed with the Order of Danica Hrvatska with the figure of Blaž Lorković for his exceptional contribution to the development of public finances and to establishing the institutional and legislative framework for public finance management, budget process, fiscal decentralization and financing of local government.

Although Professor Bayo is no longer with us, his works have remained a lasting legacy for FEB, University of Zagreb, and Croatia's economics.

Information technology for business strongly influences the success of a company. The aim of this department is to educate top experts who utilize information technology in order to enhance the competitiveness of Croatian companies. The department established a major in Managerial Informatics (formerly known as Business Informatics) as a result of significant demand for bachelors of business administration with solid knowledge of informatics.

Within postgraduate study programme 'IT Management' students are presented with the latest scientific, professional and practical achievements in the application of information technology when managing companies, non-profit, governmental and public organizations. Candidates acquire knowledge and skills necessary for managing complex projects and businesses by utilizing contemporary technological tools and management methods.

Every year the department organizes Days of Information Technology. The goal of this event is to show how IT can solve business problems and to present the best students in the previous year. The topic of this event is different every year.

We organize a field trip for our students every year – for the students to get a first-hand look at the business application of IT in the daily practice of leading Croatian companies. Getting to know the local characteristics of different Croatian regions is also an important part of these field trips.

Department of Macroeconomics and Economic Development is the first, oldest and the largest department among Croatian faculties of economics. Academician Mijo Mirković, founder of the Faculty, is also a founder of this department.

The department carries out study programme in Economics. Contemporary curriculum economics majors – future experts in modelling and analysis of complex economic systems, e.g. analysts and company planners, experts in finance, planners and economic policy experts for specific economic fields and the whole economy, experts in international trade, international finance and diplomacy, public sector experts (education, health care, statistics and high school teachers of economics.)

Study of Macroeconomics is designed for students interested in scientific study of economics, its 4-year programme is significantly different from study programme in Business Administration.

Economic analysis and development studies are designed to meet growing needs of numerous companies and institutions for highly qualified economic development analysts, with the emphasis on the economic development of Croatia. Curriculum for the first two years is identical to Business Administration curriculum, i.e. students choose their major in the third year of studies.

Two fundamental courses of the department – Macroeconomics and Croatian Economy – are obligatory courses for both Business Administration and Economics majors. They provide the students with relevant facts on research results in the field of theory and its application in Croatia's economic development. This department also offers courses 13 other courses and organizes 3 postgraduate studies.

The Department of Mathematics has 11 members. Most of them have degrees in mathematics, others are economists. Therefore most research conducted by this department involves quantitative methods in economics, operational research, financial mathematics, econometrics. Department members take part in projects of the home faculty and Faculty of Natural Sciences.

This department also offers Mathematics course. It is an obligatory course for all first year students. The department also offers courses in Mathematics for Economists, Econometrics, Financial Mathematics, Mathematical Economics, Mathematical Programming, Operational Research, and in cooperation with the Department of Statistics we offer a course in Quantitative Methods for Business Administration.

We also offer a graduate study programme in Operational Research which is led by Professor Luka Neralić. Within this programme students study quantitative methods in economics, suitable both for mathematicians and economists.

In 2019, the Ljubomir Martić award was established. It is awarded for best papers and books in the field of quantitative economics. Ljubomir Martić was a Croatian mathematician and economist, a member of Department of Mathematics.

LECTURER

Čule, Marko, PhD

The history of students' PE dates back a long time, to 1963, with the Department of Physical Education at the Faculty of Economics and Business being established in the 80s. Today, the department counts 6 members, who conceptualize and hold regular PE classes for full-time, as well as part-time students of integrated undergraduate and graduate study programs, undergraduate study programs (both, taught in Croatian and English), and professional undergraduate study programs. Goals of PE classes are improvements in students' anthropological and physiological characteristics, positive influence on the educational component, along with the promotion of sports in general. However, the main task of the department's members, besides motivating students' individual physical exercise is counteracting the process of premature loss of certain properties, abilities and motor functions due to lack of physical activity.

PE is represented in the curriculum as either compulsory or elective courses, held at the faculty's gym and additional locations. Content-wise, students are offered a kinesiological program: fitness, aerobics, dance, rugby, basketball, volleyball, soccer, badminton, swimming, ice skating, rowing, hiking, cyclic sports outdoors: bicycling, jogging and ski school.

The department cooperates with the Croatian Institute of Public Health, the Croatian Olympic Committee, the Croatian Kennel Club, the Sports Services/ Office at the University and the Croatian Academic Sports Association.

All sports programs at the faculty fall into the responsibility of the department's members. The Faculty of Economics Sports Association, established in 2007 unites the faculty's students', professors' and employees' physical activity. Students compete in over 20 male and female disciplines at the University's sports Championship. The best gain the possibility to perform nationwide at the Croatian University's sports Championships. Professors and employees of the Faculty participate in recreational activities: fitness, soccer, basketball, volleyball and swimming.

In addition to classes and competitions, members of the Department of Physical Education participate in seminars, scientific conferences and congresses on educational kinesiology. Further they conduct scientific research and publish papers in scientific journals. Research results are presented at conferences in Croatia and abroad.

Statistical methods are fundamental analytical methods for economics and business administration. Statistical data on economic trends, statistical indicators and models provide information that enable the following of economic trends, implementation of economic policies, business decision-making and predicting.

The science of statistics includes theory, methods and their application. Some of the courses are available in English language within Bachelor Degree in Business Programme (BDiB). Department of Statistics also offers the University Specialist Postgraduate Study Programme "Statistical Methods for Economic Analysis and Forecasting".

Curricula of a number of postgraduate programmes include courses in statistics. Computer programmes such as SAS, STATISTICA, Stata, EViews are very important in class and they are available to our students.

Our department members also achieve significant research results. They present their research at conferences in Croatia and abroad and also publish their work in scientific journals.

The background features a light gray gradient. In the upper left, there are several overlapping circles: one solid white, one dashed white, and one thin purple outline. A large, solid magenta shape, resembling a stylized leaf or a large drop, dominates the lower right portion of the page. It is partially enclosed by a thin purple outline that follows its general shape. The text is positioned in the upper right area, above the magenta shape.
