PREFACE

For over a century the Faculty of Economics & Business, University of Zagreb, (FEB) has consistently nurtured studies rooted in science, experience, innovation, creativity, excellence, values and intellectual curiosity. From 1920 to 2021 (July 1) 87,418 students have successfully completed their studies at FEB. Throughout this, it has also acquired attractive buildings and encouraged sports programs while treasuring academic traditions.

FEB has been recognised as the regional leader in implementing high-quality university education and research through connecting the outstanding faculty and resources, notable researchers and the support required for exciting and innovative research. The school's global view is supported by its internationally recognised academics and associations and 181 agreements on international collaboration with the institutions from 38 countries and 5 continents – some of which are world-renowned institutions.

Community service projects accompany all FEB's educational efforts fostering partnerships with the stakeholders, e.g. private and public enterprises. The benefits for our students are manifold: from hands-on learning to landing job offers. Reciprocally, our alumni become leaders in their fields reinforcing the community in collaboration.

Lead by its professors' enthusiasm and practitioners' training, FEB's performance and commitment to acquiring top accreditations have resulted continuous improvements and internationalisation. This has facilitated answering the question mostly posed by small fear-driven countries: how to catch up if you are away from the centre of the world while being noticed? Quality is the key element and the guiding principle of the new learning culture as well as an opportunity for a small European country such as Croatia in times when the only constant feature is the persistence on change due to globalisation and transformation. We are confident that the world and development belongs to those who do not settle for what is there, those who regard excellence as power and identity, and those who consider knowledge as permanent their pursuit and mark. Exactly this is the chance for the new generations who will profile our future.

We are proud of our past, and we believe in the prospects of our future. Our alumni have made permanent contributions both in Croatia and the region, as well as in Europe and in the world. They have achieved exceptional accomplishments in their professional careers and as mentors, directors, entrepreneurs, ministries, CEO, governors of national bank, researchers, deans, prime ministers, volunteers and advisers who enable the advancement of the lives of others.

Thank you, everyone!

FEB'S INTELLECTUAL CONTRIBUTION: DELIGHTED PAST, A BRIGHT FUTURE OF HUNDRED YEAR'S JOURNEY

The centenary long institutional memory of the Faculty of Economics & Business, University of Zagreb, has been characterised by its engagement and impact on the society through education of its students, the dissemination of research practices pursued in all departments, and involving both the students and the full and the adjacent faculty. In addition to Research and Social Responsibility, Knowledge plays a remarkable role in generating social enrichment. Knowledge is of noticeable relevance to decision-making, scientific research and teaching activities, and has the power to unite people through insight, reason, wisdom, and expertise who can build it, shift it and share it. At FEB, we believe that, in the research context, all knowledge arises from human collaborative activities. As meaningful interaction with a wide range of connections to theory and practice is central to the realisation of the FEB's mission and the delivery of its strategic aims, contracts and close cooperation agreements with 492 companies and institutions have resulted in a variety of more formal arrangements, such as co-authorship, data access agreements, observation of corporate practice, collaboration via surveys, questionnaires, interviews, commissioning and funding of research.

FEB breeds members of the global society that impact young generations considerably, and its study programmes, covering both university and professional levels of studies, aim to educate strategic thinkers and skilful doers. The learning goals of all FEB programmes are drafted according to its mission and the following areas: high level of knowledge, critical analysis and analytical thinking, ability to synthesize knowledge from different fields, leadership, creativity and teamwork, internationalisation and global perspective, ethics, social responsibility and communication. Therefore, we are most accountable for supplying new knowledge and skills to the global citizens who will share similar goals, ideas and social values, and thus connect our cities, countries, regions around the globe.

FEB is recognised as the leading state university that implements high-quality education and research in attractive premises that encourage sports programs and treasure traditions. In the new Strategy for the 2020-2025 period, FEB has placed significant emphasis on the impact of our research on the society. Some of the most crucial aims are:

- to concede, obtain and gather research transparently from all our stakeholders and thus create FEB's foundational knowledge;
- to preserve the momentum for searching and acquiring new fields of knowledge, research disciplines and practices;
- to intensify FEB's projects and enhance the impact, engagement, and networks;
- to reinforce the passion for knowledge and progress by continuing improvement in every aspect of our work – learning, teaching or research – with substantial evidence and visibility with the stakeholders.

The directing of developments, which demands flexibility to modify the capabilities, skills, and competencies according to new technology challenges in FoodTech, FinTech or industry 4.0 to the environmental changes and the principle of CleanTech, is often followed by learning and realising new knowledge with evidenced in our research output. FEB's current aim is to increase the externally funded research and streamline its delivery in harmony with the research strategy, SMART specialization strategy, and the national government priorities. This particular mix concentrating on EU funded research and engaging firms is harmonized to support its priorities.

In accordance with FEB's Strategic Plan, research links actively as a provider of business expansion, intensifies its profile, and is prominent in the mission and subject field. Our imperative is to be even more active and strategically agile in responding to the requests and to the networking opportunities that lie ahead. Scientific research and teaching activities are placed at the core of FEB's activities as stated in its mission ["...committed to the research and education of highly qualified experts..."] and vision ["...that provides top-quality education and research..."]. In addition to education and scientific research, FEB encourages innovation and knowledge to influence the economic and social development in Croatia and the region. Thus, the research strategy focuses on the continuous improvement of its research performance, identity, and culture to position it as a recognised international research force that is both academically excellent and positively impactful across a broader range of stakeholders, including students, practitioners and policymakers – thus enhancing the welfare of business and society.

FEB proposes to assist these goals by participating in research projects and strengthening the research quality, and its Management recognize that achieving excellence in research requires infrastructure, incentives, funds, and research equipment. To accomplish the above-mentioned goals FEB has defined a number of activities, periods, lines of responsibility, and indicators of accomplishments.

Thus, as global research advances while enhancing regional applicability of relevant theories, FEB aims to integrate its individual research streams into a coherent body of research. The Dean is directly in responsible for research and is supported by FEB's Council for Research and Science (CRS), which comprises faculty members holding the most prestigious national and international research recognitions/awards. In this regard FEB aims to stimulate:

- its faculty to deliver competitive research output by providing adequate access to resources (access to publications, databases and funding) and knowledge (access to leading scholars);
- facilitation of research excellence through FEB' conferences and journals and place FEB on the international research map;
- research excellence in terms of quantity (number of relevant publications), quality (journal quality where publications are published) and impact (number of citations);
- research relevance by exposing stakeholders to the implications of FEB's faculty research results;
- cross-departmental and cross-generational cooperation to facilitate boundary-spanning research by organising individual researchers into groups and centres.

The content of this publication covers selected bibliographies and listings of a variety of teachers' academic activities in 2020, following established methodology in previous issues of Research Output publications. Special emphasis is placed on the activities organised by FEB, such as publishing monographs and journals, hosting conferences, monitoring and issuing theses. According to ORCID, CROSBI, Google Scholar, WoS and Scopus, researchers' profiles aim to raise awareness regarding personal and institutional visibility in the academic environment on national and international levels.

Furthermore, FEB stimulates its researchers to increase the quality of their publications by focusing on the journals' scientific reputation and rankings. The sources for the data presented here were CROSBI, Web of Science, Scopus, and the FEB library catalogue.

FACULTY RESEARCH OUTCOME, QUALITY AND IMPACT

FEB's main objective is to keep its reputation of the most cited and influential scientific and educational HEI in Croatia (measured by WoS and Scopus) whose teachers/researchers serve as an example of good practices to comparable institutions. Therefore, FEB's Management continuously fosters strong research culture among its faculty members, which has resulted in great improvements over the years. This is clear from the Research Output, which has been published regularly since 2017 (URL: <https://www.efzg.unizg.hr/research/feb-research-output/39584>). High priority is placed on research profile in terms of engagement, innovation, performance, impact, ERS and culture to advance economics and business theory and practice. The faculty's scientific activity is also manifested in the numbers of published books and book chapters, and by active participation in scientific and professional conferences.

CHALLENGES IN 2020

The presented research results were achieved during the year of FEB's 100 anniversary when celebrations were marred by the COVID-19 pandemic and 2 devastating earthquakes. The latter events severely damaged the main FEB building and the facilities (approx. 24%). With regard to the former global circumstances, FEB immediately adopted Remote Learning and Teaching offering its students continuous support in different ways, e.g. balancing between the pressures of emotional stress and regular academic obligations.

Alongside with these for many new dimensions, FEB's faculty have maintained their research activities continuing to expand the parameters of knowledge. Frequently, teaming up with partners to determine and resolve complex problems – whether reaching out across FEB's depth of scholarship to other universities in Europe and overseas, or working with the industry, entrepreneurs, government agencies and the community – we are stimulated by these collaborations and look forward to engaging with the brightest and the most remarkable minds in bringing solutions that benefit the humankind worldwide.

In the contemporary business environment foreign language skills are a prerequisite for the success of business people and organisations. Media, especially the Internet, offer a wealth of information available only to people with foreign language skills.

The aim of this department is to develop communication skills in English, French, German, Spanish or Italian necessary for future business and academic careers.

We enhance students' writing and speaking skills through various teaching materials (texts for reading or listening comprehension, video material, websites, music and pictures) dealing with contemporary issues from the field of business and economics. We teach reading and listening strategies as well as structures used in conversation, meetings, negotiations, discussions, presentations etc. Classes are interactive and require regular attendance and full participation.

The courses are tailored to the needs of future business people who need to be informed about economic issues and current events in business and politics. Learning business languages, thus, enhances students' awareness of cultural differences.

Students are encouraged to read business magazines and books in order to be ready for the labour market where confidence in foreign languages contributes to increased competitiveness, mobility and independent performance.

Business English and Business German are compulsory in the first year and elective foreign business language courses are offered in senior years at undergraduate and graduate levels.

Apart from teaching, our department members publish textbooks, dictionaries, papers and translations, participate in international projects, professional associations and conferences. They cooperate with various cultural institutions:

British Council

Goethe-Institut

Alliance Française

L'Istituto italiano di Cultura

The Department of Demography as a separate organizational unit at the Faculty of Economics & Business – Zagreb was founded in 1996. At that time, it was the only department of the sort in Croatia. However, population studies at the Faculty of Economics have a tradition more than half-a-century long.

As a self-standing course, Demography was introduced to the curriculum in 1953 at the Department of Statistics.

Demography is a scientific study of the determinants and consequences of population change. It is particularly relevant for economists because population change bears important implications for economies and policies.

The Department teaches the following courses at different levels of study (undergraduate and graduate): Demography, Labour Economics, Demographic and Social Development, Demographic Methods and Models, Introduction to Demography, and Economic Sociology.

Throughout the history of Faculty of Economics and Business, since 1920, when High School of Trade and Transport was founded, finance studies have had an important place in curricula. In the initial phase of economics studies, finance was taught within "Principles of Political Economy" using the textbook of the same title written by Professor Blaž Lorković in 1889.

The existing Department of Finance with segments of monetary finance, public and social finance, international finance and financial institutions and markets, banking and insurance, is directed to providing guidance in handling complicated challenges of globalization. In order to achieve this goal, syllabi of the given disciplines are highly compatible with finance study programmes in the EU and USA.

Memory of those members of our department who left their mark on financial theory and Croatia's politics but are no longer with us - Professor Marijan Hanžeković, first finance minister in independent Croatia, Professor emeritus Ivo Perišin, full member of the Croatian Academy Of Sciences And Arts, Professor Antun Šokman, a long-term vice governor of Croatian National Bank, Professor emeritus Pero Jurković, a former governor of Croatian National Bank and professor Anto Bajo who suddenly passed away on Monday, November 25th, 2019. , and was a full professor at the Finance Department and a senior researcher at the Institute of Public Finance in Zagreb, are an inspiration to us all in our teaching and research within the field of finance.

Department of Macroeconomics and Economic Development is the first, oldest and the largest department among Croatian faculties of economics. Academician Mijo Mirković, founder of the Faculty, is also a founder of this department.

The department carries out study programme in Economics. Contemporary curriculum economics majors – future experts in modelling and analysis of complex economic systems, e.g. analysts and company planners, experts in finance, planners and economic policy experts for specific economic fields and the whole economy, experts in international trade, international finance and diplomacy, public sector experts (education, health care, statistics and high school teachers of economics.)

Study of Macroeconomics is designed for students interested in scientific study of economics, its 5-year programme is significantly different from study programme in Business Administration.

Economic analysis and development studies are designed to meet growing needs of numerous companies and institutions for highly qualified economic development analysts, with the emphasis on the economic development of Croatia. Curriculum for the first two years is identical to Business Administration curriculum, i.e. students choose their major in the third year of studies.

Two fundamental courses of the department – Macroeconomics and Croatian Economy – are obligatory courses for both Business Administration and Economics majors. They provide the students with relevant facts on research results in the field of theory and its application in Croatia's economic development. This department also offers courses 13 other courses and organizes 3 postgraduate studies.

The history of students' PE dates back a long time, to 1963, with the Department of Physical Education at the Faculty of Economics and Business being established in the 80s. Today, the department counts 6 members, who conceptualize and hold regular PE classes for full-time, as well as part-time students of integrated undergraduate and graduate study programs, undergraduate study programs (both, taught in Croatian and English), and professional undergraduate study programs. Goals of PE classes are improvements in students' anthropological and physiological characteristics, positive influence on the educational component, along with the promotion of sports in general. However, the main task of the department's members, besides motivating students' individual physical exercise is counteracting the process of premature loss of certain properties, abilities and motor functions due to lack of physical activity.

PE is represented in the curriculum as either compulsory or elective courses, held at the faculty's gym and additional locations. Content-wise, students are offered a kinesiological program: fitness, rugby, basketball, volleyball, futsal, badminton, swimming, rowing, hiking, cyclic sports outdoors: bicycling, jogging and ski school.

The department cooperates with the Croatian Institute of Public Health, the Croatian Olympic Committee, the Croatian Kennel Club, the Sports Services/ Office at the University and the Croatian Academic Sports Association.

All sports programs at the faculty fall into the responsibility of the department's members. The Faculty of Economics Sports Association, established in 2007 unites the faculty's students', professors' and employees' physical activity. Students compete in over 20 male and female disciplines at the University's sports Championship. The best gain the possibility to perform nationwide at the Croatian University's sports Championships. Professors and employees of the Faculty participate in recreational activities: fitness, futsal, basketball, volleyball and swimming.

In addition to classes and competitions, members of the Department of Physical Education participate in seminars, scientific conferences and congresses on educational kinesiology. Further they conduct scientific research and publish papers in scientific journals. Research results are presented at conferences in Croatia and abroad.
