

Mateja Golubić

Teaching and Research Assistant; Department of International Economics

e-mail: mgolubic3@net.efzg.hr

Career overview

Graduated from the Faculty of Science, University of Zagreb, in 2020, obtaining the degree of Master of Education in Mathematics and Physics (mag. educ. math. et phys.). Professional experience includes mentoring students participating in numerous national and international competitions in Croatia and abroad. Currently employed as a teaching and research assistant at the Department of International Economics and enrolled in the Doctoral Programme in Economics and Business Economics at the Faculty of Economics and Business, University of Zagreb.

Research areas

International Economics, Global Economic Processes, Economic Growth and Development, Quantitative Methods in Economics, Econometric Modelling, International Economic Relations.

External activity

Collaboration with the Ministry of Science, Education and Youth and the Agency for Education. Participation in science popularization projects. Experience as a speaker at numerous national and international conferences.

Notable Publications in period 2019-2023

N/A